

The Politically Incorrect Guide™ to the CIVIL WAR

H. W. Crocker III • Read by Bill Wallace

Get ready for a rousing rebel yell as best-selling author H. W. Crocker III charges through bunkers and battlefields in The Politically Incorrect Guide™ to the Civil War. Crocker busts myths and shatters stereotypes as he profiles eminent and colorful military generals, revealing little-known truths, like that Robert E. Lee had a higher regard for African-Americans than Lincoln did. Crocker culminates his tome in the most politically incorrect chapter of all: "What If the South Had Won." This is the "P.I." Guide that every Civil War buff and Southern partisan will want on their bookshelf, in their classroom, and under their Christmas tree.

"I had supposed it wasn't possible these days to talk reasonably, as well as informatively, about our great national cataclysm, the Civil War. H. W. Crocker III brings off that extraordinary feat with style, verve, and wit."
—William Murchison, nationally syndicated columnist

"You can't understand America until you understand the War of Northern Aggression, and Mr. Crocker tells the story in such a delightful, politically incorrect way that you can't wait to get to the end of his book to see whether Marse Robert actually pulls out a stunning upset. Great scholarship, great storytelling, and great fun."
—Wesley Pruden, editor emeritus of the Washington Times and political columnist

H. W. Crocker III is the author of Robert E. Lee on Leadership, a history of the United States military; Don't Tread on Me, a history of the Catholic Church; Triumph; and the prize-winning comic novel The Old Limey. He lives on the site of a former Confederate encampment near the battlefields of Northern Virginia.

Bill Wallace has recorded hundreds of books for the National Library Service's Talking Book Program for the blind and physically handicapped under the auspices of the Library of Congress. He won the Alexander Scourby Narrator of the Year Award for Nonfiction in 2001, and the Canadian Torgi Talking Book of the Year Award in 1996 and again in 2003. He was nominated for an Audie® Award in 1998.
