

SMALL UNIT LEADERSHIP

Col. Dandridge M. Malone, USA (Ret.)

READ BY ALAN BOMAR JONES

"Identifies in very specific terms what company grade officers and non-commissioned officers (NCOs) must do to ensure winning in land battle." —Marine Corps Gazette

What does it take to get the job done? How do you get the men in your unit to do what you say? To follow you into battle and shoot to kill? How do you build the confidence that spurs men on to do their jobs, to stand by their leaders and each other? Find the answers to these questions and more, in this classic for those who have to get the job done—military or not.

Dandridge M. Malone began his U.S. Army career as a private and ended as a colonel almost thirty years later. Renowned as the Army's foremost expert on leadership, both in garrison and in combat, he has taught the subject to noncommissioned officers, West Point cadets, and students at various Army service schools. Retired in 1981, he resides in Florida.

Alan Bomar Jones is an international stage actor who has appeared in over sixty professional theatrical shows. His offstage credits include two made-for-TV movies, several independent films, and various local commercials. Among his audiobooks are Disintegration by Eugene Robinson and The Golden Thirteen by Paul Stillwell.
