

Inspired by radio dramas of the past, the Narada Radio Company endeavors to create audio dramas that go from amusing to terrifying.

Harkening back to classic series like Lux Radio Theatre and Mercury Theatre On the Air, The Mutual Stage presents all-new adaptations of films and stage plays sourced from the public domain. Director/producer Pete Lutz has assembled an Oscar-worthy cast to bring you his adaptation of the hit 1963 film Charade. Get set for comedy, adventure, and romance as we tell the story of a recent widow whose husband stole a quarter of a million dollars. Now his partners want that money back!

Pete Lutz founded the Narada Radio Company in 2013 when he began podcasting audio dramas, and since then has written, directed, and produced more than 150 audio productions. His audio drama The Trunk was named the First Prize winner of the 2015 Marion Thauer Brown Audio Drama Scriptwriting Award. Pete lives in South Texas with his wife and son and, by day, wears the secret identity of a civil servant at a Naval Air Station.
