

There's no brave without afraid!

Spunky first grader Jo Jo Makoons knows a lot about bravery and bold-ness. Her cat, Mimi, is very brave when she tries new foods, and Teacher is very bold when he wears his ugly ties to school.

When Jo Jo is invited to her first friend sleepover, it's her turn to be courageous!

Only she's not quite sure how. Especially when scary puppets and dolls hide around every corner. . . .

Full of spooky fun and after-school mischief, the latest book in the Jo Jo Makoons chapter book series celebrates an Ojibwe girl with a big heart who finds her courage through the people she loves.

DAWN QUIGLEY is a citizen of the Turtle Mountain Band of Ojibwe, North Dakota. Her debut YA novel, Apple in the Middle, as well as the first three books in the Jo Jo Makoons series, were named American Indian Youth Literature Award Honor Books. Her middle grade novel, Red Bird Danced, was named an ALA Notable Book. She is a PhD education university faculty member and a former K–12 reading and English teacher, as well as an Indian Education program codirector. You can find her online at dawnquigley.com.
