

Murder is an art form. This killer believes practice makes perfect.

1960s: Frances Adams is loving her London life, thanks to her new friend Vera Huntington—a magnetic socialite as mysterious as she is provocative. Vera dances around London like she owns it, taking Frances with her.

Present day: When Annie Adams heads to London to visit her famous artist mother, Laura, the last thing she expects to find is a dead body. Least of all, for it to be Laura's new protégée, left in an alley with her heart surgically removed from her chest.

Annie is no stranger to murder—in fact, she's solved a few already. And something about this case feels familiar. She read about one just like it in the journals of her late great aunt Frances, whose friend Vera was killed in the 1960s in the exact same way.

As Annie investigates, threats pile up on Laura's doorstep, and it soon becomes clear that she's the killer's next target. With her mother's life on the line, can Annie find the killer before it's too late?

KRISTEN PERRIN is originally from Seattle, Washington, where she spent several years working as a bookseller before immigrating to the UK to do a master's and PhD. Her debut, How to Solve Your Own Murder, is the first Castle Knoll Murder Mystery and has been translated into more than twenty languages. The book was also a Good Morning America Buzz Pick, was featured on The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon, and has been a New York Times, IndieBound, USA Today, and Der Spiegel bestseller. She lives with her family in Surrey, England, where she is hard at work on more books in the series.
