

J. A. Jance
DAMAGE CONTROL
 A JOANNA BRADY MYSTERY

Narrated by Johanna Parker

New mystery novels from New York Times best-selling author J. A. Jance are always enthusiastically received by her many fans. In Damage Control, Sheriff Joanna Brady faces grisly events that push her ever closer to the edge.

The startling beauty of the Coronado National Monument is set in stark contrast with the events that play out one seemingly innocent day. First, an elderly couple drives their car off the side of a mountain. As the sky itself threatens to erupt in a vicious storm, a helicopter is called in to attempt to rescue the bodies. When, hours later, two sets of human remains are discovered stuffed into trash bags some miles away, Sheriff Brady knows that serious trouble is afoot—and that she'll be sorely tested to sort out the truth and prevent another regrettable death.

Narrator Johanna Parker delivers a polished, pulse-pounding reading of a book that is sure to be ranked among Jance's best.

Johanna Parker is a San Francisco native who now makes her living in New York City. Parker received her bachelor of fine arts degree in acting from Boston University and also trained at The Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts.
