Jennifer Tobin FROM TROY TO CONSTANTINOPE

Cities and Societies of Ancient Turkey

From time immemorial, the region of modern-day Turkey has served as a crossroads between East and West. In this illuminating course, Professor Jennifer Tobin leads a compelling discussion of "Anatolia," from early archaeological sites and the Trojan War up through the Greeks, Persians, Alexander the Great, and the Romans. A land of immense cultural significance, Ancient Turkey has housed an amazing array of peoples—the study of whom shines light on the modern world.

Jennifer Tobin is an associate professor of classical archaeology at the University of Illinois at Chicago, where she has taught since 1999. Professor Tobin is the author of Black Cilicia: A Study of the Plain of Issus during the Roman and Late Roman Periods (British Archaeological Reports, 2004) and Herodes Attikos and the City of Athens: Patronage and Conflict under the Antonines (J.C. Gieben, 1997). She has participated in excavations in Greece, Cyprus, and Turkey and leads educational tours of archaeological sites in and around the Mediterranean basin.
